MAN SUICIDES NEAR MILROY

Sylvester Kendall, a One Legged Livery Employee
Drowns Himself

NO CAUSE IS ASSIGNED

Arose From Bed in Middle of the Night and Jumps
into Icy Water

When Sylvester Kendall retired at the Tompkins hotel in Milroy Saturday night, it was the last time he was seen alive, but his body was found in the river yesterday afternoon by a searching party, about two miles below Milroy.

Kendall only had one leg and drove livery teams between Greensburg and this city for a livelihood.

When he retired Saturday night the persons at the hotel did not note anything out of the ordinary in his actions or in anything he said, but some time during the night he arose and quietly stole out of the hotel and walked along the river bank to a point about one mile and half below Milroy. Here his crutches were found yesterday, and the alarm was given which resulted in the searching party finding his body about a half mile below. It is thought that he suicided, but no cause can be assigned for his committing such a rash act. His friends say that at times he grew melancholy over the loss of his limb, but that he never even intimated committing suicide to put an end to his mental sufferings.

He was about fifty years of age and was a very eccentric fellow. About two years ago he drove a horse off the South Main street race bridge, then there was a thin sheet of ice on the water, and only the timely assistance of those who saw him plunge into the water, saved his life. The employees of Caldwell's livery got the horse out of the icy water after struggling for over an hour, and then the horse almost died the following night from the exposure it suffered.

Kendall has several relatives in this county, and is a nephew of Alfred Kendall of Richland township. He made his home in Greensburg, but was here often driving traveling men for livery barns both in Milroy and Greensburg.

Speaking of the suicide the Greensburg Graphic says: "Kendall was in Rushville Saturday and rode to Milroy that afternoon on a flour wagon on his way home. He slept in the hotel at Milroy Saturday night, but left there before anybody was astir and no one has been found who saw him leave the town."

"Sunday morning people driving along the road noticed on the bank of the creek an overcoat and a pair of crutches which were recognized as belonging to Kendall. It is thought that the man started to walk to his home in this city, a distance of 12 miles but his strength giving out he became despondent and ended his life as given above."

"Kendall for many months drove for the Sturgis Livery in this city and despite the fact that several years ago he lost one of his legs by amputation he was considered by Mr. Sturgis as a good careful driver and always kind to a horse. He left the employ of Mr. Sturgis after the election without any apparent reason. Since then he has been in several different towns in search of employment. On Christmas day he was seen on the streets of Shelbyville."

"He leaves a wife, one daughter and three sons. The daughter, Miss Florence, is a teacher in the Greensburg city schools."

"The body was taken to Milroy and today will be brought here for interment."

Coroner Will S. Coleman went to Milroy this morning to investigate the death of Kendall. He has not completed his investigation, but he says that he is of the opinion that Kendall's death was purely accidental, and that he fell into the water while trying to wash his hands. He says he thinks the man was trying to make his way to Greensburg on foot.

CALDWELL TAKES REINS TOMORROW

County Treasurer Elect Goes in to Office With Walter Newhouse as Assistant

George H. Caldwell, the newly elected county treasurer, will take the reins of that office in hand tomorrow morning, John C. Blackledge retiring.

Mr. Blackledge retires with a clean record, having given several years of efficient service in the office intrusted to his care, and having made many friends while serving as a county official. Alvan Moor, who has been his deputy, had proven a valuable man.

Walter E. Newhouse, who lately returned from California, will go into the county treasurer's office tomorrow as an assistant. Mr. Caldwell is to be commended for his choice in this matter, for Mr. Newhouse is one of the most popular young men in this city.

The Daily Republican extends best wishes to both the incoming and outgoing officials.

DISSOLUTION OF UNDERTAKING FIRM

George Caldwell, County Treasurer Elect, Retires from Firm of Caldwell & Co.

The firm of Caldwell & Co. has been dissolved, Fred A. Caldwell assuming full proprietorship of the undertaking concern. George Caldwell, the retiring member, was obliged to sever his connections with the firm on account of the duties he will assume on the first of the year, when he goes into the county treasurer's office for four years.

Fred A. Caldwell has been the active member of the firm since the partnership was effected a few years ago, and in that time has made many friends and enjoys the confidence of the people of this community.

In retiring, Mr. George Caldwell wishes to thank the many people who have assisted them in a business way.

Fred A. Caldwell will continue the establishment at the old stand.

WHITE PLAGUE IS VICTOR IN BATTLE

Popular Young Man Succumbs at Carthage and is Buried Here

Raymond Fleener, an orphan, who has made his home with his aunt, Mrs. J. J. Anderson, and his cousin, Mrs. Ed Adkins, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adkins Saturday morning, of tuberculosis. He was eighteen years of age, and was a favorite with young and old. All through his lingering illness he was patient and appreciative of the many attentions shown him.

Friends were permitted to view the remains between two and four o'clock Sunday afternoon. The body reposed in a beautiful couch casket, with silken canopy draperies, and surrounded by the flowers he loved so well. There was a mass of floral tributes. Services were held at the M. E. church Carthage this morning at ten o'clock, in charge of Rev. Scull, and the remains brought to this city about 2 o'clock and interred in East Hill cemetery.

J. W. Holmes and aunt Miss Ellen Holmes, and daughter Miss Sadie Holmes, of Malden, Mo., will arrive Thursday to make their home with Orion Holmes and family.

STOLE HIS MONEY AS HE SLEPT

Case of "Too Much Johnson" or Rather "Too Much Confidence" in Humanity

E. M. Johnson, who conducts a store in the northeast part of this city, fell asleep in his place of business last night, and when he awoke he found that someone had entered the place and "touched the till," stealing between eight and nine dollars—his entire receipts for the day.

For some reason his suspicion fell on Robert Foster, a colored laborer employed on the new factory. Foster was arrested by Marshal Price and arraigned before Mayor Cowing this morning. He was found not guilty and was completely exonerated, as nothing was introduced to prove that he had a hand in the affair.

The moral of this news story in the words of Abraham Lincoln is, "Have a care lest they work while you sleep—the late worms gets caught."

The New Castle Courier says: "Miss Elsa Krell was hostess to a party of friends Thursday afternoon, during the progress of which she announced her engagement to Maurice Goodwin, the date of the nuptials being as yet not set. The announcement was made by Miss Helene Goodwin, preceded by the playing of a wedding march by Miss Meda Krell, a sister of the bride-elect. The afternoon was spent at euchre. The home was decorated with hearts and holly and refreshments were served. Miss Krell is the daughter of Albert Krell, president of the Krell Auto-Grand company, and a popular young lady of the city. Mr. Goodwin is the youngest of the Goodwin boys and is one of New Castle's best known young men." Mr. Goodwin is well known locally and has many friends in this city, whom he has often visited with.

SAFE BLOWERS AT CARTHAGE

Unsuccessful Attempt to Rob W. H. Sharer's Safe—Several Places Entered

HOBOS ARE SUSPECTED

"Their god was their belly" and They Lost Valuable Time Eating Foodstuffs

When the word was given out in Carthage early this morning to the effect that they had visitors during the night—burglars—the town was awake in a few minutes and every one set out to take an inventory.

It was found that the burglars did not make away with much although their intentions were good.

Under cover of darkness, the thieves stole into Carthage and broke into the blacksmith shop of R. C. Hill and secured necessary tools to further their work—a preliminary step with all "first class burglars."

Entrance was secured into Kennedy's restaurant through a back door and here the thieves stopped long enough to satisfy their hunger, partaking generously of ham sandwiches, pies and cakes, and putting a finishing "touch" to their work in this place by stealing a supply of Christmas candies—a new "stunt" with "regular burglars." They also appropriated an overcoat in the restaurant, and made an attempt to pry open the money drawer but were unsuccessful.

They next entered W. H. Sharer's hardware store through a window and evidently expected to make a big haul at this place for they attempted to open the safe in the office. The safe was unlocked, but they were not aware of the fact and broke the knob off. They did not finish the job here, and were probably frightened away. In tampering with the safe it became locked and Mr. Sharer will now be obliged to send for an expert to open it.

There were four hoboes camped west of Carthage Saturday, and they were seen to act in a suspicious manner on the down town streets late in the evening, and the citizens are led to believe that the work last night was committed by them, for they have broken camp and left the town.

MAYOR COWING MARRIES COUPLE AT COURT HOUSE

Mayor Harvey M. Cowing officiated at the wedding of George E. Wasing and Miss Lena N. Kney, of Walker township in the county clerk's private office this morning. Will C. McCollin, deputy county clerk, "officiated" as "best man."

WAS KICKED IN THE FACE BY A HORSE

Cliff McClain, who is employed in the Myers livery stable on East Second street, was kicked in the face by a vicious horse late this afternoon, and sustained a painful gash in his upper lip. Dr. E. I. Wooden attended him.

Bees can fly faster over short distances, up to three miles, than can pigeons.

Teacher: "Give a sentence with defeat in it." Johnnie (promptly): Soap and water are good for defeat."

Quicksilver miners follow the most unhealthful trade in the world. The teeth of the employees fall out, owing to the fumes of the mercury producing constant salivation and the system permeated with the metal.

NATIVE CUBAN OF MOORISH ORIGIN

Can Trace His Ancestry 400 Years—Now Lives in Connersville

Connersville, ever the city of surprises, "hands out" the following. The Connersville News says: "There has been living in this city for some eight weeks past a man who makes the proud claim of being a direct descendant of the Moors of which Spanish history has much to say. His people, he says, settled Cuba 400 years ago and are the only real natives of that island. The numerous 'moor castles' on the island are in plain English Moorish castles built by this man's ancestors. He takes pride in the history of his race with which he is apparently thoroughly familiar."

He says they are of yellow or malay division of humanity entirely distinct from the African race—between which he intimates there is a co-mingling as between the white and the negro races. He says, and this is fully borne out in history, that the ten years Cuban war was precipitated by the whites of the Southern States trying to introduce slavery into Cuba after the colored people were given their freedom here.

Juino Monttriso, for that is the gentleman's name, came here about two months ago with his wife and is employed at C. A. Bailey's barber shop, in the McFarlan Hotel. He is medium in size apparently between fifty and sixty years of age. He speaks English as well as any native and much better than some, but explains this by saying he was educated in a military school where English was taught, when a boy."

STUDENTS WILL LEAVE THIS WEEK

Rushville Well Represented at the Various Institutions of Learning

The strong galaxy of young men and young ladies who are seeking knowledge, light and refinement at the various educational institutions throughout this part of the country, and who have spent a most pleasant holiday vacation with "mamma and papa," will leave Wednesday and Thursday of this week to resume their studies. Rushville can well boast of the fact that she contributes more than her share to the universities and colleges of this and other States, and this fact speaks well for the community.

Among those who will leave Wednesday are: Roy Harrold, Myron Green, Houston Aultman, Eugene Miller, Misses Ruella Amos, Anna Mege, Hazel Mowers, of this city, and Elmer Williams, of New Salem, who go to Indiana University; Earl Stiers to Wabash College.

In a certain Massachusetts village the town clerk combines business with his official capacity. A notice board at the edge of the town reads: "Automobiles must not go faster than eight miles per hour.—J. Olcott, town clerk. Get your gasoline from J. Olcott."

An eagle can live twenty days without tasting food, and a condor forty days.

CREPE HANGS O'ER STATION ENTRANCE

In Memory of the Death of President Cassett—Employees Lay off

Local Agent J. M. Higgins, of the Pennsylvania Lines has received instructions from Division Superintendent B. W. W. Taylor to drape the entrances of the passenger station here with crepe on account of the death of A. J. Cassett, president of the Pennsylvania Lines. Mr. Higgins has draped crepe over the entrance to the station and the crepe will remain there for ten days. Another order was received to suspend all work in the yards here for a short time today on account of the funeral of the late president, which was held at 2 o'clock. This was a general order in force throughout the country on the Pennsylvania lines, and included everybody connected with the company.

TRUSLER FAMILY HOLD REUNION

Many From this City Attend Family Gathering at Dublin Saturday

(Contributed). Reunion is no farce when you call into mind the one that took place at the home of W. H. Trusler and wife in Dublin, Ind., Dec. 30th, 1906. To say there was ever an event that was enjoyed, it was this special one. The friends began to arrive on the 7:30 car Saturday evening and kept coming until 9:30 Sunday.

After the serving of a sumptuous dinner, a program was rendered which was worthy of no small note. There were songs and recitations that brought reminiscences to all present and with much laughter, tears came, but only from a full heart God speaketh.

W. H. Trusler gave in detail the Trusler history from the great grand parents up to the present date. He also gave the address of welcome in a very touching manner, telling in tender precious words of the missing one from last year, and hoping we might make an unbroken family around the Father's throne, and be as welcome at the right hand of God as we were at his home. The loved companion of W. H. Trusler gave her love and welcome with that off her husband.

This meeting was not only a place of joy, but the Divine Hand played his part and we are all made better by having been here. The following program was rendered:

Song, "Joy to the World," Chorus. Address of Welcome, W. H. Trusler, Dublin, Ind. Instrumental Solo, E. E. Reid, Richmond, Ind. "History of Trusler Family," W. H. Trusler, Dublin. Vocal Solo, O. E. Trusler, Wellsville, N. Y. Reading, Mrs. H. T. Silvey, Connersville. Vocal Solo, Kathryn Giffin, Rushville. Reading, Lydia Warren, Mansfield, Ill. Instrumental Solo, Mildred Trusler, Connersville. Incidents and Anecdotes, O. E. Trusler, Wellsville, N. Y. Secretary's Report.

Vote of thanks for their hospitality tendered W. H. Trusler and wife. Song, "Blessed be the Tie That Binds," Chorus.

Adjourned to meet next year with Edmund Trusler and wife, of Connersville, Ind.

Those in attendance from this city were Mrs. Sarah Trusler, son Omer and daughter, Laura, Lincoln Giffin and family, J. K. Jameson and Miss Nora McCoy.

A rope that had been used by the public executioner in the hanging of several murderers, was sold at auction in London the other day and brought $1.25.

HAVING FUN IN THE LOG JAIL

Brown County Paper Tells How "Pegleg" Pulled Off a "Hot One"

Here is the way they joke in the land of Abe Marten. The Brown County Democrat says:

"Daniel Hedger, prisoner in our county jail was the victim of a practical joke perpetrated on him by his cellmate, George ('Pegleg') Wooten last Monday. For several days Hedger had been complaining of neuralgia of the head, neck and face, and asked Wooten if he could suggest a remedy. Wooten replied that he could and would. Pointing to a small bottle containing carbolic acid, he said 'Dan, there's a cure; it never fails; if it don't knock it there's nothin' that will.'"

Hedger eyed the bottle, and notwithstanding it was labeled 'Poison' he acted on the advice of Wooten and applied the fluid freely. The next instant he screamed with pain and cried for relief. Wooten then touched the electric button and soon Sheriff Parks appeared and Hedger was afforded relief by application of cold cream, etc. After Hedger had 'come to himself' and was back in his cell he laughed and joked with Wooten about his 'neuralgia cure' and proposed to Wooten that they try it on a dog. 'No! no! It would hurt a dog!' said Wooten. Dan and George seem to enjoy prison life, and three times a day eat a hearty meal.

RUSHVILLE, IND., DEC. 31, 1903.

We are about to step from the Old Year to the New, and we are reminded that after all our fears and apprehensions, to many of us, it has been a very kind year. To some, we know that the dark side has been turned but after all, there is a gleam of sun shine for all if we but look for it. We would not forget that to look upon the homes of some of our readers since last New Year's day, a shadow has fallen and a mantle of sorrow has wrapped its inmates in its sombre folds.

Other homes are like the empty nest that hang on the withered bough, desolate because the life and song went out with the birds. New homes have been made and old ones have been severed, but in our onward march, it is not well to stop and weigh the load each one carries. No life is all sunshine or all storm. A New Year brings prosperity, let us rejoice; if adversity let us be brave. The sunset gate of life will swing shut upon some of us ere the close of another year. Let us see to the record left on this side. If our dear ones and friends leave us for the summer land, let not the memory of harsh words spoken by us, add to the pangs of separation.

The American Cultivator, published in Boston, has this to say with reference to the scarcity of farm labor: "The stupidity of the contract labor law is in part responsible for the scarcity of farm labor. It forbids a farmer to write, say a farm employment agency in England, and engage an intelligent, sober farm hand to come over and work for him by the month, but it permits the no-account, shiftless loafer to immigrate to this country to any extent, provided there is no contract and the immigrant has no idea where he is to work. The law puts a premium on the lowest class of immigration and bars out the better class which does not care to immigrate unless to some definite purpose. Plenty of first-class labor could be hired if employers were free to act. The farm labor problem has reached such a pass that the sentiment is growing in favor of a change of the law."

Not alone has the farm labor problem reached an acute stage, but labor in general in all lines, and the conditions are such that something will have to be done soon.

Here in Indiana we have the corn trains, going from place to place to instruct the farmers. In the South the movable college idea is being carried to an extreme limit. A teaching outfit in a large wagon travels about from farm to farm, instructing the farmer on his own premises. The outfit includes different kinds of plows, planters, cultivators and cotton choppers, variety of seeds, fertilizers and dairy machinery. The farmer has a chance to compare the improved machinery with the out-of-date implements that he is using, and the result is a quick and decided change in the style of farming in many instances. The wife and children are instructed as well as the farmer, experience having shown that the whole family must be interested if advance is to be made. After the farm institute wagon has made the rounds of a community a mass meeting is held and short practical talks given by the instructors.

Looked at in a philosophical light, there is no special reason why the first day of January should be different from any other day. It is not the actual beginning of the year; the twenty-first day of March, the first day of spring, more fitly deserves the honor. But the wisdom of our ancestors is in the selection of the day, and it probably will never be changed in Christendom.

Practically, the date makes no difference. As a matter of fact, we used to celebrate New Year's day, prior to 1752, thirteen days later than we do now, on account of the change in the calendar, which took effect in that year. The Russians still preserve the old style calendar, and the Hebrews keep a New Year's day based on the Mosaic chronology. The date therefore, makes little difference, but the day is of considerable importance. As far back as history runs, it has been the custom to mark the death of the old year and the birth of the new by appropriate ceremonies.

Indianapolis, Ind., December 31.—More than ordinary interest attaches to the retirement tomorrow of Charles W. Miller as attorney general. He has held the office four years and has been a popular official. He will return to Goshen to engage in the practice of law, but it is the understanding that he will also begin laying his lines right away to capture the Republican nomination for governor in 1908. In fact, the Miller gubernatorial boom has been worked pretty strong for the last year, and while he has not stated that he will be a candidate, it has been generally believed that he would. It is said that Mr. Miller recently received a flattering offer to go to New York at the end of his term to engage in the practice of law, but he decided that he would rather return to Goshen and keep himself identified with the business he established there. This fact is regarded as an indication that he does not propose to get so far away from here that he will not be available as a candidate to succeed Governor Hanly. Many politicians believe that Mr. Miller has not been attempting to organize his forces to run for governor because he was an officeholder, but now that he is going to be dropped from the state's pay-roll they think that he will not let any moss grow under his feet getting started. His friends, however, have been following the early bird theory and have done a lot of work for him. If he does attempt to get busy now as a gubernatorial candidate he probably will start something with other politicians who have their eyes on the place. It was learned today from reliable sources that Congressman Charles B. Landis of the Ninth district and Congressman James E. Watson of the Sixth are flirting with the proposition that they shall enter the race for governor. The efforts on the part of a very strong wing of the party to bring about conditions whereby Hon. John L. Griffiths, consul general to Liverpool, might become the candidate for governor, have fallen through. One of Mr. Griffiths's very close friends said today that he will not be a candidate unless conditions change very materially.

There will be many changes at the statehouse tomorrow. The oldest official in point of continuous service who retires with the dying year is Judge Black of the appellate court, who has been a member of it since it was organized. He was reporter of the supreme court prior to that, and is said to have been on the state's pay-roll longer than anyone else in its history. His service in some capacity or other dates back to a short time after the close of the civil war. He was a candidate for renomination in the Republican state convention last April, but was defeated. Judge Woodfin D. Robinson of Princeton, who also retires, was defeated for renomination on account of over-confidence and poor management of his campaign. Judge U. Z. Wiley of Fowler, who has been a member of the appellate court for ten years, also retires. He has been retained as attorney for some large corporations and will have headquarters here. Judge Joseph Rabb of Williamsport and C. C. Hadley, deputy attorney general for the past eight years, will succeed Judges Black and Wiley. Ward D. Watson of Charleston will succeed Judge Robinson. Judges Jordan and Monks of the supreme court succeed themselves. Another old-timer on the state pay-roll who will retire Tuesday is Robert A. Brown, clerk of the supreme and appellate courts, who has held the office for eight years. He will be succeeded by Edward Fitzpatrick of Portland. Most of Mr. Brown's office force will retire with him. It is intimated that Mr. Brown may become president of a college in Kansas. Miss Mary Stubbs of Indianapolis, who was appointed to fill out her father's term as state statistician when he died recently, will begin her formal term Tuesday. State Geologist Blatchley will be sworn in for his fourth term. He has held the office so long that politicians seem to think it belongs to him forever. His opponent in the recent state convention moved that Mr. Blatchley's nomination be made perpetual. Fred A. Sims, secretary of state, would have begun his term on Jan. 1 had he not been appointed to fill out the unexpired term of Dan Storms. He was sworn in shortly after the election, as was John C. Billheimer as auditor. Oscar Hadley, state treasurer-elect, will succeed Nat U. Hill about the middle of February. F. A. Cotton will begin his third term as state superintendent of public instruction on March 15.

WRECKED IN A FOG

Suburban Station Near
Washington Scene of a Frightful Disaster.

DIDN'T SEE THE SIGNAL

Engineer of Fast Freight Dashed Into Passenger Train Discharging
Passengers at Terra Cotta.

In the Resultant Wreck Forty Were Killed and Sixty Injured.
Many of These Fatally.

Washington, Dec. 31.—An appalling disaster occurred last night at 7 o'clock on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Terra Cotta, about three miles from this city, in which about thirty-five persons were killed and over sixty injured, some of them so seriously that they will die. The accident was caused by the collision of train No. 66, due here at 6:25 p. m., from Frederick, Md., known as the Frederick special, with a dead-head passenger equipment special of eight cars. Over 200 passengers were aboard the ill-fated train.

It has been proved that the danger signal at Takoma Park, a short distance from the place of the accident, was set when the train of empty freight cars passed. The train was going at the rate of sixty miles an hour, and Engineer Hildebrand stated that on account of the heavy fog he could not see the signal. His train ran into the Frederick train just as it was pulling out of Terra Cotta, where it had stopped to take on four or five passengers, two of these being among the killed. Both Engineer Hildebrand and the fireman on the freight train were arrested and brought to Washington.

Following is a partial list of the dead: Mary Leford, thirty years old, employed in the bureau of engraving and printing, this city; George Higbie, eight years old, Brookland, D. C.; Dr. E. Garther Harris, Washington; Miss Koll (a Y. M. C. A. badge was found in her pocket); girl, thirteen years old, unidentified; girl, eight years old, unidentified; girl, eighteen years old, unidentified; girl, eighteen years old, Norman Rogers, Marion, Ind.; Mrs. J. McCaghey and her fourteen-year-old son; Edward M. Belt, fourteen years old; Commodore P. Brown, sixty years old, address unknown; Prof. King, organist Wesleyan chapel, Kensington, Md.; two negro women and a negro baby, unidentified; two women about thirty years old, unidentified; woman, twenty-five years old, unidentified; woman, twenty years old, unidentified; Elizabeth Pearman, Takoma Park; child, unidentified; T. A. Kelly, Kensington, Md.; Lee Lowe, Washington; L. Ruppert, Washington, merchant; Henry Higbie, Brookland; Theodore Mertz, New York; Mrs. S. W. Shrewbridge and baby, Washington; May Cook and baby, Washington; Mrs. Sallie V. Butts, Washington; Mrs. A. W. Redding, Colonel Robert Anderson, Newark, Ohio.

One of the worst features of the catastrophe was enacted at the station of Terra Cotta. Here a number of passengers were waiting to take the train into the city when the collision occurred. Of the large number only two escaped, the remainder were either killed by being thrown under the train or injured by flying pieces of wreckage.

The dead bodies were found lying beside the track for a considerable distance. A dense fog was prevailing and made objects perceptible but a few feet ahead. It was impossible to determine the exact extent of the catastrophe. Those passengers in the forward coach who were but slightly bruised heard the groans of the dying and wounded and did what they could to give aid. A number of the passengers walked to Brookland, three-fourths of a mile away. The moment the first of the survivors reached Brookland a general call was sent out for doctors and ambulances.

One member of the crew of the passenger train who hobbled into a drug store a half hour after the accident, said: "I cannot tell how many people were killed. It was awful; I don't even know just how it happened. The freight engine went through the entire train, and it seems to me as if everyone was killed in the last coach and many in the first. The freight train must have run past a red target. I cannot explain the event in any other way. I can hear the groans of the dying ringing in my ears now."

United States District Attorney D. W. Baker, who was a passenger on the forward car, suffered internal injuries. He was able to walk from the wreck to a drug store, where his injuries were treated. He was later taken to his home in an automobile. When the news of the accident spread about Brookland many citizens, with their wives, hastened to the scene to give their aid and comfort to the wounded. The ill-fated train runs only on Sunday, for the benefit of many Washingtonians who either have country places on the line or go to their relatives. It leaves Frederick at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and is scheduled to reach Washington at 6:25 o'clock.

A LINK WITH THE PAST

Baroness Burdett-Coutts, Famous Philanthropist, Dead.

London, Dec. 31.—Baroness Burdett-Coutts, who has been ill at her residence here since Christmas eve, is dead. Her death, occurring at the age of ninety-two years, besides depriving the country of one of its greatest and most famous philanthropists, removes from London a unique personality and an interesting social figure. As a link with the almost forgotten past, her life beginning during the reign of the Emperor Napoleon, she lived during the reigns of five British sovereigns. Inheriting an immense fortune, she so used it as to die beloved by the whole nation.

VERDICT SET ASIDE

Last Will and Testament of Father
Macklin Declared Valid.

Rock Island, Ill., Dec. 31.—A verdict declaring invalid the will of Father Thomas Macklin, a Catholic priest who left an estate worth $150,000, was set aside by Judge Gest on the ground that the verdict was not in accordance with the evidence. The issue hinged on the sanity of the priest, who died two years ago of a disease that puzzled experts. The insanity of the priest was established in the minds of the jurors largely through the testimony of experts. The chief beneficiaries of the will are four nieces. The contest was brought by nearer relatives. During the trial startling evidence was submitted to show the use of undue influence by the nieces during Father Macklin's illness.

NO PLAN OF ACTION

Has Been Outlined For Grid-ance of Returning Solons.

EXODUS WAS GENERAL

So Complete Was the Holiday Flight
From Washington That No
One Was Left to Fix Program.

With Neither House Prepared to Take Up Appropriation Bills Legislation Will Limp.

Washington, Dec. 31.—Congress will be reconvened after the Christmas recess at 12 o'clock next Thursday, but it is not expected that much business will be transacted in either house until the week following. No program so far has been arranged for either body, and the general expectation is that nothing will be done in that direction until the houses are called together. There has seldom been such an exodus of public men for a brief respite from work as there was when the recess began, and as the members are returning very slowly, there is not a sufficient number of either senators or representatives in the city even to outline a plan of action.

The purpose is, in a general way, to proceed with the appropriation bills as rapidly as possible, but as neither house has one of these measures before it, both will be forced to take up other matters of legislation or adjourn from day to day until the committees can bring in some of the supply measures. It may therefore happen that one or both of the houses may adjourn from Thursday or Friday until the following Monday. This will depend upon the wishes of members who have pet measures that they desire to press.

It is known to be Senator Foraker's wish to secure early consideration by the senate of his resolution for a senatorial investigation of the Brownsville (Tex.) episode, in which the discharged negro troops of the Twenty-fifth regiment are accused of participating, and he has been devoting much of the time of the recess to preparation for the continuance of his discussion of that subject. The question of Senator Smoot's eligibility is also in condition to be considered by the senate, but as Senator Foraker is counted upon by the Utah senator's friends to lead in his defense, it is understood that the question will be deferred for a time, if not indefinitely. There is a growing disposition among senators to postpone action on the Smoot matter, and predictions that the session will be permitted to pass without a vote are not infrequent. Mr. Smoot, however, is very solicitous for a ballot, and his wishes may be permitted to prevail. By unanimous consent the senate will vote on Jan. 12 on Senator LaFollette's bill placing a limitation on the duration of the employment of railway operatives, and that measure is now in position to be called up for discussion at any time. The senate will give part of the session Thursday to the consideration of Senator McCumber's general pension bill.

The house is not nearly so well provided as the senate with miscellaneous subjects which are in shape for consideration. The house calendar is by no means barren, but in the absence of the speaker and other members of the committee on rules, no prediction regarding proceedings before other appropriation bills are reached would be justified. It may be confidently stated, however, that no important matter will be taken up in the interim.

The next appropriation bill to be reported to the house will be the fortifications bill, and this will be followed by the bill making appropriations for the District of Columbia, but neither will be ready for consideration before the 10th of January. The senate committee on appropriations will report the legislative, executive and judicial bill about a week after the reconvening of congress, and it will soon be followed by the Indian bill if there should be no effort at special legislation on the measure. The legislative bill will receive the attention of the senate as soon as reported.

Death of Former Senator.
New Orleans, Dec. 31.—Former U. S. Senator Donelson L. Caffery died last night. The body will be taken to his home in Franklin, La., on a special train.

BETTER SALARIES

Indiana Teachers Have Entered Upon a Crusade to This End.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED

Legislative Committee of the State Association Enlarged to Meet the Requirements of the Occasion.

Compact Organization Will Be Formed For Purpose of Fighting
For Higher Wages.

Indianapolis, Dec. 31.—The convention of the State Teachers' association adopted resolutions outlining a vigorous crusade for better salaries for teachers. The report of the educational commission appointed by Governor Hanly to investigate the matter of salaries was accepted. It was decided to continue the commission and to appoint five additional members who will assist in gathering statistics on the subject.

The president of the association was authorized to appoint one representative from each congressional district to co-operate with the legislative committee in obtaining desired legislation at the coming session. The association decided to wait two years to ask for a law to stop the leakage in fines and other court revenues rightfully belonging to the school fund. A resolution was also adopted declaring that the association is opposed to any legislation to take from the school fund the proceeds of state liquor licenses and demanding that all increases in cost of licenses shall be given to the schools.

The legislative committee will try to obtain a law at the coming session of the legislature providing for a direct tax on public service corporations similar to a law now in force in Michigan. The association declared that local tax levies should be supplemented by a state levy for school purposes. The teachers were urged to organize for the fight for higher wages.

THOROUGH INQUIRY

Will Be Made of the Case of George
W. Berger.

Goshen, Ind., Dec. 31.—The Lawrence county grand jury is to be convened at Bedford for the purpose of indicting George W. Harris or Berger, the Elkhart county jail prisoner who has confessed to the killing of Miss Sarah C. Schafer, the school teacher.

Fred Fletcher, the Lawrence county prosecutor, left here for Bedford with this understanding. If Harris is indicted he will be taken from Goshen to Bedford in the custody of Elkhart county officers. If no indictment is returned he will be taken to Michigan City prison to serve time for trying to kill Police Sergeant Whiteman in Elkhart. The conclusion has been reached by both the prosecutor and the father of Miss Schafer that Harris actually knows too much about the murder to make his confession out a fake.

Prosecutor Fletcher scorns the idea that Harris was paid $500 for killing Miss Schafer, as he says he was in his confession. The prosecutor also refuses to believe that Harris met a man named Asa White and killed Miss Schafer for White.

What the prosecutor does believe is that if Harris killed Miss Schafer at all, he is beginning to think he did, he was moved to do so through brute instinct and that he killed her in attempting to assault her. That Harris has lied as to how the girl was murdered, the prosecutor thinks certain. This theory is generally subscribed to by the officials who were present at the hearing of Harris. The court stenographer is preparing copies of the text of the examination and they will be forwarded to Bedford for the grand jury to go over them.

Prosecutor Fletcher believes Harris will be indicted. He says something must be done with him, as he shows a familiarity with the crime, and says it would be the worst neglect to permit him to go to the penitentiary with his murder confession entirely ignored. Harris will be kept here pending the Lawrence county indictment.

School Girl's Suicide.

Warsaw, Ind., Dec. 31.—Edith Goshert, aged seventeen, is dead from the effects of taking rough on rats. She was a member of the junior class of the Warsaw high school. In a letter addressed to her parents she wrote: "Through no fault of yours did I do this. I was just tired and discouraged. No one on earth is to blame or caused me to do this. I have been contemplating this act for a year or more."

Tragedy at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Dec. 31.—Dr. Ephraim Chessman, aged fifty-two, an herb doctor, was shot and killed by Franz Long, aged forty-three, a laundryman. The shooting took place in the middle of the street near the Chessman home in South New Jersey street. Long was arrested and freely admitted the killing of Chessman, saying that the latter had alienated his wife's affections and broken up his home.

Woman's Diplomacy

[Original.]

Providence, who manages all things wisely and economically, wastes no talents on man for the management of woman. The wisdom of this course is that man needs no such talent until after marriage, and after marriage he has a wife to manage other women for him. The economy consists in the fact that men shall marry. A single man never appreciates the sensitiveness of the opposite sex. Woman hides her wounds, and man often stamps through her feelings with seven league boots.

An incident that occurred to me after my marriage taught me this, and since then I have invariably left the settlement of my differences with other women to my wife. I had passed middle life before marrying. I had met ladies, as other bachelors meet them, socially, but my club was my home, and I was never thrown into intimate association with any woman. But I considered myself sufficiently mild mannered and deferential to the softer sex for all ordinary social purposes. What wounds I had inflicted I did not know, nor was I conscious of having inflicted any.

The honeymoon over, my wife took me in training, and it soon became apparent that I needed a great deal of it. However, in about a year I supposed I was thoroughly educated. One day my wife informed me that her dearest friend, whom she had not seen since we had been married, was coming to visit her, and she was especially anxious that I should make a good impression. I resolved to be on my guard and put on my most affable and deferential manner.

The first evening of Miss Bland's arrival my wife, my sister and our guest sat down to a game of whist. I was of course assigned to play with Miss Bland. I got on swimmingly. I saw that my partner knew little of the game, and it gave me an opportunity to show my wife that I could pass her friend's mistakes without the slightest reference to them. I would probably have gone through the evening without trespassing on my partner's feelings had not she made a mislay that gave me an opportunity, as I thought, to make a brilliant strike in soothing her.

I had a fine long suit, all of which I could make if I could draw my opponent's trumps; but, having only four trumps myself, all depended upon my partner husbanding hers. My wife led a small spade, and I, desiring to get the lead, put on the king. When my partner played, the trick was mine. She trumped it. I winced, but said nothing. My partner's error gave our opponents the odd trick.

"I shouldn't have trumped your trick, should I?" said Miss Bland, reddening.

My wife explained to her that to trump one's partner's trick was not considered always the best course, but that in this case it didn't matter since we were playing for fun.

I didn't see the fun in playing that way, but refrained from comment.

"Now I think of it," said Miss Bland, much mortified, "somebody told me once that to trump one's partner's trick was the worst mistake a player can make."

My wife looked at me appealingly to say something to make my partner feel easier, and it was then I tried to soothe her.

"You only trumped my king. There is a worse thing than that," I said softly.

"What is it?" asked Miss Bland. "To trump your partner's ace."

Miss Bland cast a quick glance at me, and I cast a glance at my wife, expecting to see approval in her face. I saw a frown.

There was an ominous tremor on Miss Bland's lip, and presently she arose, left the table and went upstairs. "Now you've done it," said my wife as she left the room to follow her friend.

I walked up and down the floor cursing myself for a fool and wondering if my wife would be able to explain matters and get me out of the scrape. I also wondered how she would manage the diplomatic task. Of course she would tell Miss Bland—that I had intended my remark to make her blunder seem less a blunder. But had I solely so intended it? Women are quick to see a slight, and perhaps Miss Bland might have detected a trace of sarcasm in my voice. "Thank heaven," I muttered, "it's woman against woman. I'm sure the more I excused myself the worse I would make the matter."

My wife returned, but without her friend.

"Well?" I asked eagerly. "She's coming down presently, after she's got rid of the appearance of tears."

"Tears?" "Of course. Do you suppose her feelings are sheet iron?" Then, seeing the pain she was inflicting on me, she added, "It's all right now."

"Did you tell her I intended?" "Nonsense! I told her nothing of your intentions."

"What did you tell her?" "Why, I told her that you had been a bachelor all your life, had lived at clubs and all that and hadn't been used to playing cards with women—in short, that."

"I didn't now any better."

"Yes."

"And it made her feel all right?" "Yes."

"My love," I exclaimed, folding her in an embrace, "you're a brick. You can beat me at diplomacy every time." Miss Bland came down, and the game proceeded. She and I became fast friends. ALEXANDER ELY.

ILLINOIS TEACHERS

Convention Votes to Ask for a Single Important Law.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 31.—The Illinois Teachers' association voted to go before the general assembly with but one demand—the appointment of the commission of educational experts suggested by Governor Deneen to make a thorough investigation of the whole school question with a view to building up a model system of public instruction in Illinois.

The action of the teachers' convention in voting to center its fire on behalf of one measure was unprecedented. It was brought about by the feeling of despair over securing any school legislation by any other means. Only those who had pet measures, with which they could not bear to part, offered the slightest resistance to the overwhelming sentiment of the convention.

IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS.

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Trouble.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all the ills which are caused by weak or disordered kidneys.

Thomas Kennedy, of 246 Meridian street, Shelbyville, Ind., employed in the furniture factory, says: "Three or four years ago I began having rheumatic pains in my hips. It would wear off at times, but any slight cold brought it on again. I commenced to have lameness in the small of my back, a bad feeling in the top of my head, and kidney secretions became unnatural and irregular. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at a drug store, and they banished the trouble I have mentioned. I can confidently recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to others suffering from backache or other kidney complaint."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn-Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agent for the United States.
